

Peer feedback

Pawel Decowski

Jun 7, 2024

1. How did this person impact your individual, team or department's performance?

Describe 1-2 concrete situations and behaviours they exhibited and be specific about their impact. This response will be shared with your colleague.

Note: I haven't worked with Oliver very closely so my feedback is limited to the few interactions I've had with him.

Asset file

When the team was working on asset file updates, Oliver's knowledge of files service and template automation helped us move quickly and avoid getting blocked. What stood out was Oliver's willingness to help at every stage of the work. He was always ready to help but at the same time he gave us free hand on specific solutions without being prescriptive. He is very approachable and a great communicator.

Incident response

Background: Octopus was trying to download bid results but the file was empty.

Oliver was one of the first people engaged with resolving the incident. He managed to find an obscure reason for the failure and deliver a fix quickly, showing great debugging skills. He also wrote up a detailed (but clear) explanation of the bug, demonstrating his communication and documentation skills.

2. Over this review period (Q3 2023 to now), what are 1-2 things you've observed this person grow or excel at that they should continue?

Describe the situations in which this skill or development had the most meaningful impact. This response will be shared with your colleague.

One thing that stood out to me is that Oliver is always available to help, whether it's in response to an incident or helping another team with something he has knowledge in.

3. For the next review period (now to end of year), what's one thing this person could improve upon or get additional coaching on?

Describe the situations in which this skill or development will have the most meaningful impact. This response will be shared with your colleague.

Based on my interactions with Oliver I can't think of any areas for improvement.